Labor Federation Representing 250,000+ Union Membership
Laborers International (LiUNA) Representing 40,000+
Union Carpenters Representing 29,000+
Local 338 Representing 13,000+
Endorse Democrat Jon Kaiman
for North Hempstead Town Supervisor

Democrat Jon Kaiman received significant support from union members on Long Island as he seeks election to return as Supervisor of the Town of North Hempstead. Kaiman earned endorsements from The Long Island Federation of Labor (“LI Fed”), AFL-CIO, the Laborers International Union of North America (“LiUNA”), The North Atlantic States Regional Council of Carpenters (“NASRCC”) and Local 338 RWDSU/UFCW.

The LI Fed, which also endorsed the entire North Hempstead Town Democratic ticket, represents over 250,000 union members and working families in both Nassau and Suffolk Counties. In addition to supporting Jon Kaiman’s return as North Hempstead Town Supervisor, the North Hempstead Town Democrat ticket endorsed by The Long Island Federation of Labor includes: current Town Council Member Veronica Lurvey for Receiver of Taxes, Town Council Members Mariann Dalimonte and Peter Zuckerman and Town Council candidate Christine Liu.

The NASRCC, representing nearly 29,000 hardworking men and women in New York and New England, equips professional men and women carpenters with the skills, training, and quality workmanship that are demanded in today's construction industry.

LiUNA-NY, consisting of the New York State Laborers' PAC and the Mason Tenders' District Council PAC, represents more than 40,000 hardworking members across New York State, including over 5000 union workers on Long Island.

Local 338 represents workers in diverse industries, including grocery and traditional retail, pharmacies, cannabis, healthcare, transportation, building and maintenance, as well as non-profit organizations and the public sector.

John R. Durso, President of the Long Island Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO said "On behalf of our Executive Board, and the 250,000 union members we are privileged to represent, we are confident that Jon Kaiman is a tested leader who will represent the best interest of working families. During his time in public service on the Town, County, and State levels, Jon has proven to be a common-sense, problem solver."

Durso continued, "Safe communities and good jobs, with decent pay and benefits, are the basis of a stable middle class lifestyle here on Long Island. As Town Supervisor, Jon will utilize his vast knowledge of government to deliver tangible results for North Hempstead residents. As a labor movement, we will do everything we can to elect Jon Kaiman this November." In his endorsement letter to Kaiman as Local 338 President, Mr. Durso said Kaiman's "dedication to the Town of North Hempstead is exemplary."

"An endorsement from LiUNA-NY reflects your support of workers and their families," wrote NYS Laborers' PAC Executive Director Vincent Albanese and Mason Tenders' District Council PAC Director Michael McGuire to Kaiman.

New York State Political Director Tricia Brown, stated, "Over 25 years in public service, Jon Kaiman has fought for sensible and sustainable capital construction programs that create jobs and stimulate the economy, like school construction, municipal improvements and infrastructure projects that continue to make a difference in the lives of Long Islanders."

Kaiman stated "I have fought for sensible and sustainable capital construction programs over 25 years in public service to create jobs and stimulate the economy. This includes municipal improvements, school construction and infrastructure projects that continue to make a difference in the lives of Long Islanders."

Kaiman added, “The Long Island Federation of Labor throughout Long Island and as part of the AFL-CIO in our state and country, has made our workplaces safer, our economy fairer, and our nation stronger. It stands for policies that will create a healthy economy in each of our communities. Union members including the Laborers and Carpenters stand for policies that promote strong construction wages, health/retirement benefits, fair contracting, and safe working conditions. I am honored to be recognized by those who are on the front lines of the labor movement and thank President Durso and the LI Fed, the Laborers International Union, the The North Atlantic States Regional Council of Carpenters and Local 338 for their early key support of our community-based campaign to restore good government to North Hempstead.”

As a trusted, tested and ready innovative, common-sense, problem-solver, Jon Kaiman offers a new vision on how to approach town government. He brings real experience and produced real results. After working in state and county government, Kaiman brings a whole new breadth of experience that allows him to build on his vast knowledge on how the Town of North Hempstead should work for its residents.

Kaiman previously served as a District Court Judge, Town of North Hempstead Supervisor for five terms (2004-2013) including devising and implementing its 311 Call Center and Project Independence for its senior population, chair of the Nassau Interim Finance Authority (NIFA), led the state’s response to Superstorm Sandy and currently is Deputy County Executive in Suffolk where he helped developed projects that address climate change, including electric vehicle charging stations and projects collecting power from wind and solar.
